CALL FOR PAPERS
PURPOSE RESEARCH WORKSHOP 2027
A Developmental Workshop for Purpose Scholars

28 April 2027
ESCP Business School – Montparnasse Campus
3, rue Armand Moisant 75015 Paris, France

About the Workshop

This workshop is organized by the Bella Purpose Research Group and hosted by the ESCP Leadership and Inclusive Management Institute. The Bella Purpose Research Group brings together management scholars investigating corporate and organizational purpose. This one-day developmental workshop is a place to present work in progress, receive constructive feedback, and connect with the purpose research community. It continues a series of Purpose Days hosted by members of the Bella Purpose Group, previously held at HEC and Oxford, in Paris, and POLIMI, in Milan.

We welcome scholars at all career stages, from doctoral students to senior faculty. We invite submissions on any aspect of purpose research.

What to Expect

The workshop combines plenary presentations and small-group sessions. Each plenary presentation is followed by feedback from an assigned discussant and an open discussion. Small-group sessions bring together senior scholars and early-career researchers for in-depth discussion of specific projects, so that participants receive targeted, developmental advice.

Lunch and coffee will be provided throughout the day.

Submission

Submissions should be sent using the online form. Extended abstracts (1,500-2,000 words plus references) and full papers can be submitted. Submissions should outline the research question, theoretical framework, research design, preliminary findings (if available), and expected contribution. We also invite you to include the questions on which you would most like to receive feedback.

The organizers will assign formats based on the paper's stage of development and the overall program.

Participating Without a Paper?

The number of seats is limited, and priority will be given to participants presenting a paper. Meeting fellow purpose scholars, joining the discussions, and serving as a mentor or discussant are all valuable contributions. Please register using the form, and we will notify you if seats become available.
